

Master Clinician Microcredential

Starting out a career as a therapist or clinician can be an overwhelming process. It is a intimidating responsibility when you are entrusted with supporting the healing of ‘real live humans’ who have come to you for support!

While your graduate education may have prepared you well for certain aspects of the job, you might not feel fully equipped to transfer your knowledge into an applied setting where you are working.

Level II: Master Clinician series is coming in 2025.
Visit the RAE website for updates and announcements.

That’s where the Master Clinician courses come in.

Micro-credentials are designed to be shorter in duration and more focused than traditional degree programs, making them a flexible and accessible option for professionals seeking to enhance their expertise. Micro-credentials are closely aligned with industry needs and trends. They are frequently developed in collaboration with industry experts, ensuring that the content is up-to-date and addresses current challenges and demands.

RAE Institute’s Clinical Advantage programs are eligible for Provincial and Federal Grant funding. Job Grants, Employer Training Grants, and Future Skill Grants are available to employees and sole proprietors looking to enhance their skills and education. Please refer to your home province government website for more information.

The RAE Institute’s Micro-credential Programs are co-sponsored for CE Credit by the Psychologists’ Association of Alberta.
